Stem Cell Therapy

We have our own
Stem Cells In-house
Laboratory.

What are Stem Cells?

They are multipotent cells with the ability to multiply and divide indefinitely without losing their original properties. This allows them to specialize and regenerate tissues and organs.

Our stem cell program is fully personalized based on each patient's individual needs. We combine the benefits of integrative medicine, preparing and optimizing the body with the ideal internal environment to maximize the effectiveness of the stem cells.

Stem cells are human cells that have the potential to develop into highly specialized kinds of cells. There are 2 types, adult and mesenchymal. In our lab, the kinds of stem cells we have for our therapy are mesenchymal stem cells. What makes them special?

Can be beneficial for:

- Degenerative Arthritis
- Joint pain
- Alzheimer's disease
- Lyme's disease
- Stroke
- Parkinson's disease
- Multiple sclerosis
- Crohn's disease
- Spinal cord injury
- Autoimmune conditions
(Lupus, Rheumatoid Arthrities, etc)

They can multiply indefinitely without losing their original properties and they can differentiate into a highly specific kind of cell, depending on the specific needs of your body at the moment. This is due to signaling processes that while very complicated, in essence amount to mesenchymal stem cells becoming cells that function as regenerative medicine of tissues and organs.

Our stem cell therapy program is personalized by design. We tailor each program according to your unique needs, in a background of integrative medicine, and thus link the benefits of integrative medicine into our program. Every aspect of our program, including IV's, physiotherapy and other holistic treatments, builds upon the core treatment to potentiate the benefits of stem cell therapy in your body.

Stem cell therapy can also reduce inflammation, modulate the immune system, promote optimal health in the natural aging process, and improve overall quality of life.

Regenerative Care

Therapies with Exosomes

Boosting Your Healing Journey

Exosome Therapy represents a breakthrough in regenerative medicine, offering a powerful tool to enhance the effects of stem cell treatments. Exosomes are tiny, naturally occurring vesicles that facilitate communication between cells, promoting healing, regeneration, and anti-inflammatory effects.

At our clinic, we integrate Exosome Therapy with stem cell treatments for a comprehensive approach to regeneration and recovery. These advanced therapies work synergistically to support the body's natural repair mechanisms, offering enhanced outcomes for various conditions.

Exosome therapy is non-invasive and tailored to complement your unique treatment plan. Whether you're addressing chronic conditions, aging concerns, or injury recovery, Exosome Therapy is a cutting-edge solution that elevates your healing journey.

Can be beneficial for:

- Enhancing cellular regeneration
- Supporting tissue recovery
- Reducing inflammation and pain
- Boosting immune system function
- Promoting skin elasticity
- Aids joints and cartilage
- Improving overall vitality
- Boosts stem cell therapy for better outcomes

HOLISTIC

Empower Your Body's Healing Potential

Hyperbaric Oxygen Therapy

Hyper Cube

Hyperbaric oxygen therapy, with cutting-edge technology that consists of administering oxygen in a pressurized environment! As the pressure increases, the oxygen dissolves and saturates the blood plasma, leading to various positive physiological, biochemical and cellular effects.

Additionally, our Hyperbaric Oxygen Chamber uses Rife frequencies that help to optimally stimulate and generate functional balance in our organs, tailored to meet the specific needs of each patient depending on their health goals or pathologies.

This non-invasive treatment effectively raises oxygen levels in all organs of the body and typically lasts for 60-90 minutes, during which the patient sits down and breathes normally.

Numerous clinical studies have demonstrated the ability of M-HBOT to improve the body's natural healing and regenerative capacities. It is employed as an additional therapy to support and enhance the healing process for both chronic and acute conditions.

Can be beneficial for:

- Digestive problems
- Depression & Anxiety
- Circulation
- Pre and post-surgical benefits
- Degenerative chronic diseases
- Cognitive function improvements
- Sleeping quality

EBOO Ozone Therapy

Cellular Regeneration and detoxification

EBOO stands for Extracorporeal Blood Oxygenation and Ozonation, a revolutionary medical ozone therapy that detoxifies and oxygenates your blood outside of your body.

This therapy offers one of the most powerful immune boosting and detoxifying effects available in modern medicine, especially beneficial for patients facing chronic illness, inflammation, or viral infections.

Uses a closed-loop system where blood is circulated through a special filter while being exposed to a cross-current flow of ozone and oxygen. It visually resembles dialysis, but the process serves a different purpose. The blood returns cleaner, more oxygen-rich, and supercharged for healing.

Can be beneficial for:

- Ultimate detox at the cellular level
- Immune system supercharge
- Increased oxygen to every cell
- Inflammation & pain reduction
- Support for chronic conditions
- Immediate energy & mental clarity
- Improved skin health
- Enhanced detoxification of organs

Starting from $1000 USD
